i greet you on the re commencement of our literary year our anniversary is one of hope and perhaps not enough of labor we do not meet for games of strength or skill for the recitation of histories tragedies and odes like the ancient greeks for parliaments of love and poesy like the troubadours nor for the advancement of science like our cotemporaries in the british and european capitals thus far our holiday has been simply a friendly sign of the survival of the love of letters amongst a people too busy to give to letters any more as such it is precious as the sign of an indestructible instinct perhaps the time is already come when it ought to be and will be something else when the sluggard intellect of this continent will look from under its iron lids and fill the postponed expectation of the world with something better than the exertions of mechanical skill our day of dependence our long apprenticeship to the learning of other lands draws to a close the millions that around us are rushing into life cannot always be fed on the sere remains of foreign harvests events actions arise that must be sung that will sing themselves who can doubt that poetry will revive and lead in a new age as the star in the constellation harp which now flames in our zenith astronomers announce shall one day be the pole star for a thousand years with the rise of science we moderns believe the world changed irrevocably separating us forever from our primitive premodern ancestors but if we were to let go of this fond conviction bruno latour asks what would the world look like his book an anthropology of science shows us how much of modernity is actually a matter of faith what does it mean to be modern what difference does the scientific method make the difference latour explains is in our careful distinctions between nature and society between human and thing distinctions that our benighted ancestors in their world of alchemy astrology and phrenology never made but alongside this purifying practice that defines modernity there exists another seemingly contrary one the construction of systems that mix politics science technology and nature the ozone debate is such a hybrid in latour s analysis as are global warming deforestation even the idea of black holes as these hybrids proliferate the prospect of keeping nature and culture in their separate mental chambers becomes overwhelming and rather than try latour suggests we should rethink our distinctions rethink the definition and constitution of modernity itself his book offers a new explanation of science that finally recognizes the connections between nature and culture and so between our culture and others past and present nothing short of a reworking of our mental landscape we have never been modern blurs the boundaries among science the humanities and the social sciences to enhance understanding on all sides a summation of the work of one of the most influential and provocative interpreters of science it aims at saving what is good and valuable in modernity and replacing the rest with a broader fairer and finer sense of possibility the divine comedy by dante alighieri is the story of a journey across the universe as it was known in the middle ages a work of science fiction ante litteram dante had an encyclopedic mind no doubt and his poem is the most widely read book after the bible he was a master of the astronomical knowledge of his time and used astronomy in his work to indicate places to measure time and to exemplify beauty indeed in the convivio he wrote that science is the ultimate perfection of our soul and astronomy more than any other science is noble and high for a noble and high subject we propose a reading of the divine comedy through astronomy with a journey starting from the earth proceeding to the moon the planets and to the outermost edges of the universe the way in which dante connects ancient astronomy with modern conceptions of the cosmos will astonish readers more than 700 years later
