done in the past near the area where the constantinian basilica stood which was dedicated to the most holy saviour and the adjacent areas on which were built all the other structures to complete the patriarchio ever since the 4th century ad this aforementioned desire took concrete shape with a special agreement signed up to in february 2018 which set out to involve academics from prestigious universities in italy and abroad the main players in this agreement were the same ones who up until that time had already made their biggest contribution of high scientific value both in the lateran area and in the area pertaining to the ancient hospital itself
